Welcome to The Pack!

By Peggianne Wright

I'm so thrilled to be publishing the first volume of my newsletter, deTails. As a subscriber to this free publication, you will be privy to all the new and exciting developments happening over at our website PawsToPray.ca!

In this issue, I'd like to introduce you to Paws To Pray, an online community for pet parents.

But, if you've connected to the newsletter through the link on the website, Facebook page, or Instagram account, then you'll already be familiar with it.

In the coming issues, we'll cover all kinds of helpful information under the topics Healing, Understanding, Devotion, and Pampering.

Each issue will be loaded with links to blog articles reflecting personal experience with my own fur-kids and current pet related issues of the day, training tips addressing all stages of fur-kid life, recipes for nutritional treats and meals for both 2- and 4-leggeds, spiritual inspiration including an upcoming 30 day devotional focusing on pet grief, and ton of useful and handy downloadable and printable freebies.

So welcome to the Pack and God Bless!

Healing

I follow many various dog groups on Facebook and every day I find joy in the happy photos posted there. But, I also feel overwhelmed and sad on many days too, as pet parents pay tribute to their babies who have gone to the Rainbow Bridge. In this first newsletter, I'd like to acknowledge all those folks out there who've lost a beloved fur-kid. As a grieving Mom myself, I was able to express my feeling in this article I call Cry.

Understanding

In this issue, we'll discuss a topic that touched our family when our Joee lost her vision a couple of years ago. With having already lost her right eye due to a detached retina, a cataract developed in her left eye, reducing her vision to nearly zero. Adjustments were needed in every way we lived life and I have summarized some of those helpful ideas in my article Dealing with Blindness: The First 5 Things You Should Do.

Devotion

Adopting a fur-kid is a serious commitment; one that is likely to span at least a decade or more and be relatively expensive.

In my story, Pet Parenthood: Seven Important Things to Consider Before Adopting A Puppy, I explore critical areas that should be considered before adopting a pooch.

Pampering

Avoid the expense and hours of research when trying to find healthy treats for your pup by baking your own.

Veggie Bonz are full of, yes, veggies and oat flour and are super simple to bake. Their softer texture make them perfect for senior fur-kids who may have lost a few teeth and their ingredients are safe for pups who suffer from allergies.
